

Egurucool Institute

Students of Egurucool Coaching Institute observed the institute's 10th anniversary with a message to save the earth from global warming. Addressing a seminar on the issue, Dr Jyotsna Mishra, explained that our ancient texts contained many references to the phenomenon of global warming. The institute's students also staged a play 'Dharti Kahe Pukar Ke' in presence of the chief guest RR Prasad, a member of the State's Human Rights Commission. Prasad, in his address, said the country was in safe hands as students today have consistently demonstrated their concern for the earth's well being: ADRI secretary Shaibal Gupta advised students to keep the earth clean and pure. Chief conservator of forests, Bihar, M J Mishra, urged students to plant trees, the only known solution that could reduce the effects of global warming.

'I-Play Learn' branch

New Age Knowledge Solutions Pvt Ltd opened a branch of 'I-

Play Learn,' a playschool at Boring Road. Inaugurating the school, Patna West legislator Nitin Naveen said that such playschools would go a long way in equipping children with knowledge that would come in handy in their life as responsible adults. Counsellor Bhoomipal said the facilities at the school were such that all concerns of parents would be addressed. Vijaya Singh, a director of the school, said that the school would provide a variety of toys and learning games that would help children improve their mental faculties.

Saraswati Puja

Students of the NMCH performed Saraswati Puja with religious fervour and gaiety in the college campus. They performed a variety of cultural programmes, including dance, songs, drama etc. A student of 2003 batch, Dr Vijay Shankar, danced to the tune of Hanuman Chalisa. Harendra Pathak and Sonu Priya received wide applause from audience for their remarkable quwwali performance. Jitendra Kumar stole the show with his mono-acting. MLA (Patna Central) Arun Kumar Sinha inaugurated the function. College principal Dr CB Choudhary, Dr Harihar Dixit, Dr B N Tiwary, Dr U K Singh and Dr A K Yadav were also present.

HTC, PATNA